Introduction

Washington State laws provide cities with the power to establish and levy taxes, fees and charges for the purposes of financing government services. The City of Auburn collects revenue from these sources and deposits them into one of 35 funds managed by the City. Separate fund accounting is used to reflect legal restrictions imposed by these funds by either State law or City code (for example, rate revenues collected for water utility operations are deposited into the water utility fund and are, by law, limited for the purpose of financing the operating and capital needs of the water utility).

The General Fund is the City's largest fund and is used to account for the majority of City resources. Approximately three-quarters of the City's General Fund revenues are derived from three sources: property taxes (approximately 31%); sales and use tax (approximately 33%); and utility taxes (approximately 18%). The remainder of the City's resources are derived from licenses and permits, planning and permitting fees and charges, park, arts and recreation program fees, fines and penalties, intergovernmental payments for services, and other miscellaneous sources such as investment interest and rental income.

Other major funds (and sources of City revenue) include water, sewer, storm drainage and solid waste utility rate revenues, airport fees, charges, rents, real estate excise taxes, and mitigation/impact fees assessed upon new commercial and residential construction. Revenues collected from these sources are limited in purpose and can only be used to benefit specific programs as described above.

Historical Factors Affecting City Revenues

City revenue collections can be affected by a variety of factors including regional and national economic conditions such as business cycles and periods of economic expansion and contraction (i.e., recessions); geo-political events which can affect consumer and business confidence, national equity markets and thus local economic conditions; and voter approved and State legislated mandates.

Since 1995, there have been several voter approved and State legislative actions that have permanently affected revenues for the City of Auburn. It is estimated that the cumulative effects of these actions have resulted in a permanent loss of $61 million to the City (currently, $3.6 million per year). A description of several of these key actions is presented below.

Sales Tax Exemption on Purchase and Lease of Manufacturing Equipment, Retooling of Manufacturing Equipment, and General Research and Development (1995). Legislation was passed to exempt the purchase and lease of manufacturing equipment from State and local sales taxes. The next year further legislation was enacted exempting sales taxes on research and development and on the retooling of manufacturing equipment.

Initiative 695 (1999). In November 1999, the voters of Washington State approved Initiative 695, which repeals the State's long standing motor vehicle excise tax (MVET) and requires future voter approval of tax and fee increases proposed by State, county and local governments. The ruling was upheld on appeal at the Washington State Supreme Court. The loss of the MVET eliminated an average of $750 million annually as a funding source for local governments, transit systems and State transportation projects. The loss of MVET revenues was approximately 2.0% of total General Fund revenues. During 2000, State funding was provided to assist in the revenue losses. The City of Auburn received approximately $200,000 in 2001 and 2002. Early in 2003, the State discontinued this funding assistance.

Initiative 747 (2001). Another loss to City revenue is due to I-747 which limits property tax increases to the lesser of 1.0% or inflation. I-747 was passed by Washington State voters in November of 2001. This measure was declared unconstitutional by the King County Superior Court on June 13, 2006. In November 2007, the State Supreme Court decision was to overturn I-747. Following this decision, the Washington Legislature approved House Bill 2416 reinstating the provisions of I-747 retroactively to 2002, restoring the one percent limit on property tax increases.

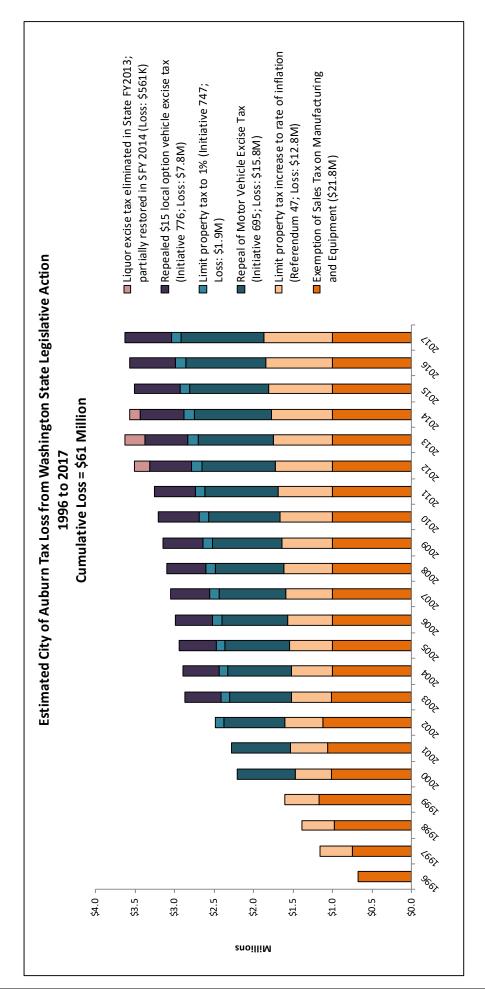

Initiative 776 (2002). The voters approved this initiative in the fall of 2002 to repeal the $15 local option vehicle excise tax levied in King, Snohomish and Douglas counties. The voters of these counties initially approved this tax and there was argument whether a statewide vote could repeal a local voted tax. After several court cases and subsequent appeals, the State Supreme Court upheld the initiative. The loss to the City street program is approximately $600,000 per year in 2017 and 2018.

Streamlined Sales and Use Tax (SSUTA) (2008 and 2017). In 2003, the Legislature enacted Senate Bill 5783 to adopt several provisions of the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement (SSUTA). The agreement attempts to create a sales tax collection system that is uniform across all states. Washington State changed from a point of sale collection process to a point of delivery collection process in July 2008. Funding to mitigate the losses as a result of SSUTA is currently being provided by the State.

However, in 2017, the Legislature enacted Senate House Bill 2163, which eliminates the Streamlined Sales Tax Mitigation monies over the next few years. The last distribution the City of Auburn will collect will be towards the end of 2019. To offset this loss, the bill provides for taxing marketplace facilitators/remote sellers. This is known as the Marketplace Fairness Act (MFA), and requires certain marketplace facilitators, marketplace sellers, remote sellers and referrers to collect and pay sales taxes on certain internet and remote sales beginning in January 2018.

Although highly uncertain, current projections of the expected impact of the net loss of the SSUTA net of anticipated receipts due to the implementation of the Marketplace Fairness Act (MFA) are:

2018 +$0.1 million 2019 -$0.0 million 2020 -$1.0 million 2021 -$1.2 million

City of Auburn compared to other King County Cities

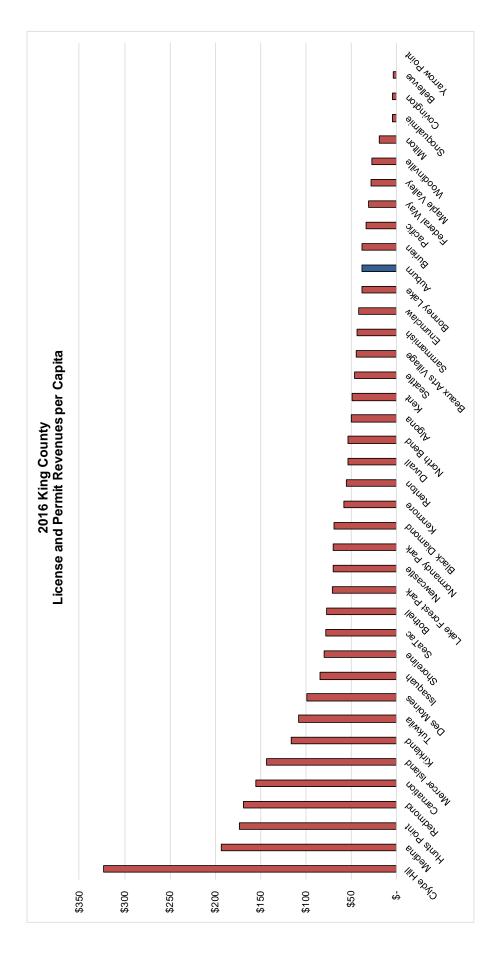

When evaluating revenues between municipalities, one common methodology is to normalize the information on a per capita basis. Based upon information collected and maintained by the Washington State Auditor's Office (SAO) for calendar year 2016 (the latest year in which data is available on the SAO website), the following graphics provide some insight as to how the City of Auburn's General Fund revenues compare to surrounding jurisdictions in King County.

Note that these comparisons are for the General Fund only and do not include revenues that are receipted into other funds such as rates from Water, Sewer, Storm Drainage, Solid Waste utility services, Real Estate Excise Taxes or the City's 1% utility taxes that are earmarked for arterial street improvements.

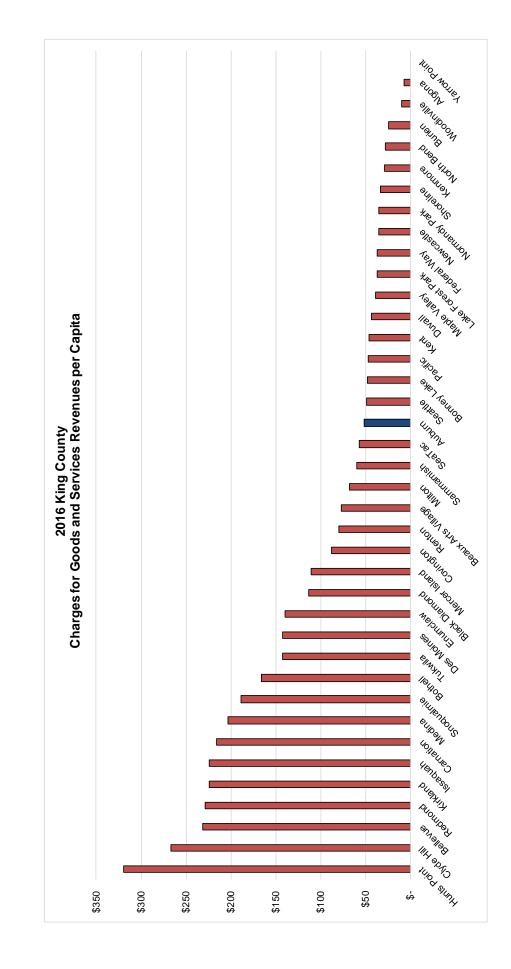

Taxes per Capita: This graphic compares tax revenues/capita for all cities in King County. This revenue category includes all forms of taxes including property, sales, and utility taxes. In 2016, Auburn collected $619 in taxes on a per capita basis as compared to $891 for the City of Renton, $559 for the City of Kent, and $283 for the City of Federal Way. Variances in this statistic can reflect local economic differences such as the valuation of local properties, the local property and utility tax rates, or the number of large retail establishments, such as big-box retailers or destination-based shopping centers.

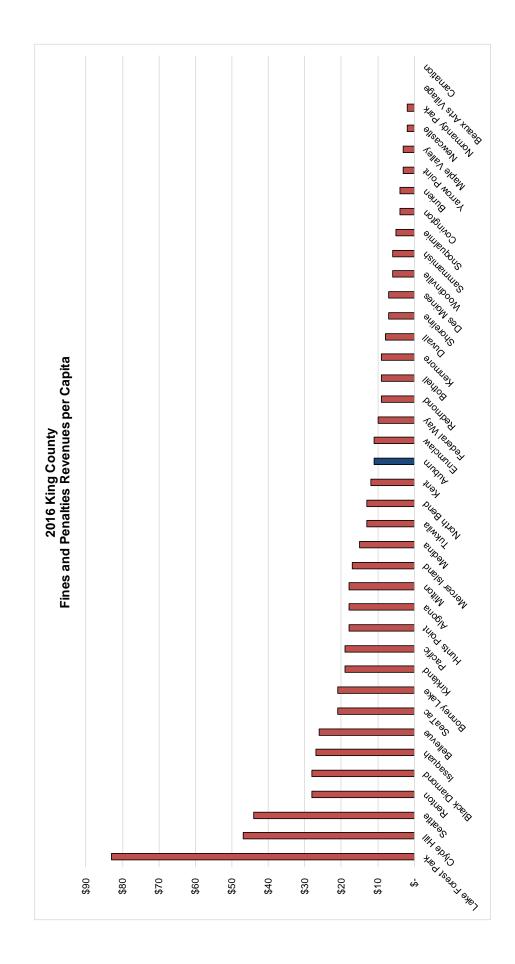

and the rate structure of the fees that it charges, and the amount of development activity that results in building permits and for the City of Federal Way. Variances in this statistic can reflect the local level of development activity, the type of projects Licenses and Permits per Capita: This category compares revenues from licenses and permits on a per capita basis. In 2016, Auburn collected $38 on a per capita basis as compared to $55 for the City Renton, $49 for the City of Kent, and $31 plan check fees.

capita. In 2016, Auburn collected $52 on a per capita basis as compared to $80 for the City of Renton, $46 for the City of Charges for Goods and Services per Capita: This next category compares revenues from goods and services per Kent, and $37 for the City of Federal Way. Variances in this revenue source can reflect the type and number of contracted agreements that a city has in place and the value of these agreements.

Auburn collected $11 on a per capita basis, as compared to $28 for the City of Renton, $12 for the City of Kent and $10 for Fines and Penalties per Capita: This next category compares revenues from fines and penalties per capita. In 2016, the City of Federal Way. Variances in this revenue source can reflect the type of activities that may generate fines and forfeits that a city has in place.

$720 on a per capita basis, as compared to $1,054 for the City of Renton, $666 for the City of Kent, and $361 for the City charts including Taxes, Licenses and Permits, Goods and Services and Fines and Penalties. In 2016, Auburn collected Sub-Total Revenues per Capita: The graphic below includes the total revenues per capita of the combined prior four of Federal Way.

While these comparative per capita statistics provide interesting insights into the level of revenue collected between jurisdictions, it is important to be aware that there can be many factors affecting revenue collections and that the amount of revenue collected can often reflect the relative priorities of a community (for example, the type and level of utility taxes assessed or whether a jurisdiction has installed photo enforcement cameras). Therefore, while these comparisons make for interesting comparisons, conclusions should not and cannot be drawn without the benefit from a more in-depth analysis of publicly available information.
